

Silver Line

Washington Street Service

The Silver Line Washington Street service travels between Dudley Square, Roxbury and Downtown Crossing at Temple Place. Operating in a dedicated bus lane along Washington Street, the Silver Line buses run every five minutes or better during peak time.

The Silver Line uses a fleet of high-tech, 60-foot, articulated buses. The buses' three wide doors, low-floor design, and simple-to-deploy ramps allow easy access for riders with wheelchairs, walkers, strollers, and everyone else. Silver Line Washington Street stations are street level and offer comfortable seating, digital message boards, bike racks, police call boxes, and area maps.

Waterfront Service

The Silver Line Waterfront service operates via a newly constructed tunnel and bus lane connecting South Station to two new underground stations (at the J. Joseph Moakley Federal Courthouse and at the World Trade Center) and one surface stop east of D Street (Silver Line Way). After the stop at Silver Line Way, the routes branch off:

- SL1: Logan Airport, and stops at all terminals.
- SL2: Boston Marine Industrial Park.
- SL3: City Point and residential South Boston.

The Silver Line Waterfront's underground stations (South Station, Courthouse, and World Trade Center) feature elevators, escalators, TTY's, and electronic message boards along with artwork and seating.
